This is the first time I have had the opportunity to direct a piece of theatre and it would not have been possible without the help of certain people, firstly my production team, Harriet Drewe and Chris Hayward, secondly the technical expertise of Jonathon Armbruster and Ed Landamore, thirdly my flat mates for putting up with me being a grumpy arse for the past few weeks, and lastly but certainly not least the cast for being fantastic with every aspect, without the support and commitment of these people this show would never have happened.

Josh Fox.
